

Spring Bank has recently been added to the group of banks offering free checking accounts to eligible City of New York employees.

Seven banks now offer free checking to eligible City of New York employees. To qualify, eligible employees must use the direct deposit option, allowing their City employer to transfer their paycheck funds directly into their bank account.

The seven participating banks include:

- Carver Federal Savings Bank
- Flushing Bank
- HAB Bank
- Neighborhood Trust Federal Credit Union
- Spring Bank
- Sterling National Bank
- The Finest Federal Credit Union

These free checking accounts may also include features such as:

- No monthly fees
- Low or no minimum balance requirements
- Free online banking and bill pay
- Free in-network ATM withdrawals

Please check with individual banks regarding features for which you may be eligible. Charges for additional banking services may apply at all banks listed above. Before signing up, make sure to read the account details or speak with a bank employee who can explain to you the details regarding your account.

Employees eligible for free checking: City of New York employees, including New York City Housing Authority employees, and Department of Education employees.
